Dr Loosen has been in the same family for more than 200 years and its present guardian, Ernst Loosen, is one of the great characters of the wine world. He assumed ownership of the estate in 1988 and immediately realised that, with ungrafted vines averaging 60 years old in some of Germany's best-rated vineyards, he had the raw materials to create stunningly intense, world-class wines. To achieve this, Erni dramatically reduced his crop size and ceased using chemical fertilisers, preferring only moderate use of organic fertilisers. And most importantly, he turned to gentler cellar practices that allow the wine to develop to its full potential with a minimum of handling and technological meddling.

The traditional PRÄDIKAT system

QUALITÄTSWEIN/QBA QbA is an acronym for Qualitätswein bestimmter Anbaugebiete, which means a wine that comes entirely from one of the 13 designated wine regions. This is an estate's basic wine and can often be a very good value, especially from top-rated producers. Chaptalisation is allowed in QbA wines but the top estates don't do it.

QUALITÄTSWEIN MIT PRÄDIKAT/QMP Literally means 'quality wine with distinction'. These are ranked in ascending order of ripeness: Kabinett, Spätlese, Auslese, Beerenauslese, Eiswein and Trockenbeerenauslese. Chaptalisation isn't allowed; natural grape sugar alone determines this classification. As the must weight determines the category, and each category covers a range of sugar levels, you can expect a scale of fruitiness or sweetness in each category. In addition, some wines suitable for one level may, for market reasons, be moved to the category below. The great producers do not work to minimum specifications – they consistently work to their own much higher standards!

KABINETT Kabinett has the lowest minimum ripeness level of the Prädikats, and is therefore typically the lightest and most delicate style an estate produces. The wines are gently sweet or fruity, demonstrating explosive juicy ripe green apple flavours and pear-nectar textures. They're generally low in alcohol (7-10%), soft, easy-drinking and food-friendly. The alcohol levels are low because the wines often contain a fair amount of unfermented ('residual' sugar) which serves to balance the searing acidity. There'll typically be around 30 g/L of residual sugar and 8 g/L of acid. So although there's a lot of sugar, the impression is fruity rather than sweet. In a Kabinett trocken, the sugar has been fully fermented, like in an Australian dry Riesling. The alcohol will be higher and the wine will be more stony/steely.

SPÄTLESE Spätlese is German for "late-harvested". The wines usually have more richness and body than Kabinett because the grapes are allowed to ripen for an extra week or more. Once harvested, the wine can be fermented fruity ("lieblich"), half-dry (halbtrocken) or dry (trocken), depending on the winemaker's preference.

AUSLESE Auslese means "selected from the harvest" and denotes super-ripe, late-harvested grapes that are selected cluster by cluster. Often made in a fruity style with residual sweetness, Auslese is considered by most winemakers to be their finest achievement, aside from the rare dessert wines. Top winemakers often make several Auslese from different selections based on botrytis levels. The 'Goldkapsel' designation on some of our Auslesen denote this kind of extra-special selection.

BEERENAUSLESE/BA Beerenauslese refers to hand selected berries from bunches of botrytis-shrivelled fruit picked at a minimum potential alcohol of 15.3%. Production of these wines is counted in bottles, not cases. They're incredibly rich, botrytised, sweet, super complex and very long. But thanks to their wondrous natural counterbalancing acidity, they're also clean as a whistle. How do they do this? The secret is in the very long ripening period. Remember, Germany is at the northern extremity of where Riesling grapes will ripen. The fruit matures over a long time, in relatively cool conditions. Acidity is retained as the berries reach ultra ripeness. The resulting wines are expensive, but no serious wine list should be without one.

EISWEIN Meaning "ice wine", this is denotes dessert wines made from overripe grapes that have frozen solid on the vine. They're harvested quickly and pressed while still frozen so that only concentrated grape juice is extracted. Most of the water stays in the press as ice, so the resulting wine is very concentrated and pure, with vibrant, racy acidity.

TROCKENBEERENAUSLESE/TBA Germany's greatest, rarest dessert wine and the last of the six Prädikat levels is lusciously sweet, pure nectar. "Trocken" (dry) here refers to the individually selected berries which have been completely shrivelled by the botrytis mould.

About Bass Phillip Wines

The wines of Bass Phillip are endowed with vibrant fruit and considerable delicacy, and evolve and develop dramatically with aeration in a swirling glass or decent decanting. They are never excessive in tannins or alcohol in their youth, and with age, they blossom gracefully to develop an intensity of flavour in the finish framed by strong minerality and natural acidity. Countless tales vouch for how Bass Phillip Pinot Noirs improve in the cellar, sometimes for well over twenty years.

Drinking Bass Phillip Pinot is a transcendental experience a dedicated wine lover must experience to fathom just how special these wines are. Immense, soil driven complexity, deliciousness and seemingly endless ageability are compelling reasons why many Pinot connoisseurs consider them legends.
